To the Editor of Plos One Journal

Dear Editor,

Please consider the manuscript titled “Computable bitstring-compressed Matrices” for publication in Plos One.

This article belongs to the fields of applied Mathematics and scientific computing and the methods it introduces can impact many areas of applications, as performing efficient computations with large arrays can benefit any application which employs computational tools.

This article has not been submitted to any other scientific journal. Please do not hesitate to contact me if any further clarifications about the manuscript is necessary.

Sincerely,

Flávio C. Coelho
